Ok, I have a "real" question, I don't know if I should ask this here or at the vid expert council, but this... I downloaded vlc player from www.videolan.org and its free. Now, I can rip a dvd, just as corel can, but the GUI is totally different. That's the problem I have. The best I can do is copy a file with a GUI of my laptop from my ripped DVD, and then paste it into my windows movie maker, and it's great. But, is there any way to have a "real" DVD player with the same GUI? I've already read the FAQ on www.videolan.org but didn't find the answer I was looking for If anyone of you has an idea, please tell me. I'm desperate. Thank you.
