----- Torque Drift is a car stunt game in which you attempt to achieve the highest amount of drifting possible. Your car is a standard American Muscle car. You will be responsible for driving and performing stunts with your car. The stunts you will perform and the amount of drift achieved will be recorded on the screen in "x" seconds. You will race up and down the sides of mountains and tight ramps and you will also participate in time trials against other car racers on all types of tracks. To win on each track you must beat your opponents time trial time in each race. If your times are equal, then you will be given bonus points based on the order in which your opponent beat you. The car that finishes first will be named as the "Winner" and will get your "grand prize". To do more of this type of fun and excitement, the car you drive will be powered up by boosting systems to improve performance on tight turns. So come drive and drift with the best car stunt game right now. About The Game Car Drift - Mike Swift

. Before we get into the nuts and bolts of skycrafting a canyon, we need to understand something first: Imagine flying at Mach 0.8. Take off from the Milwaukee airport, go to the specified altitude and head northeast into the sky for 1-2 minutes. The wind will be blowing towards you, but in the opposite direction of your flight; thus when you start shooting your plane direction will be... I am trying to create a plane model for use with the Game Maker Engine. Here is the plane that I am trying to model: The plane that I am trying to create is slightly modified so that it can be used in a plane for the PC game Escape Room even though it is scaled down to a scale of 16 pixels for each meter it would be scaled down to an actual scale of 1 meter for every 16 pixels. I have created the planes wings and engine, f... There is an Inevitable slowdown of the game after playing it for quite a bit of time. Upon further inspection, the reason for this being the fact that I had extremely low resolution textures for the 3D models of the planes! I've included all the most recent modification to make it as close as possible to the original game as I can. Play on Easy mode with a full 1920x1080 resolution and the performance will be great, and the game will be exactly as it should be.... Hi everyone. I'm currently working on a game called Plane Driver using the new GKGameMaker X. I'm making this game to be more stylized and realistic, and I'd like to incorporate a plane game. I'm still working on it, but I've come across an issue. I've made the tracer for a tail-gun so that you can see the trails of bullets as they leave the plane. It looks great but I've also realised that it's visible in all directions, which also adds to the realism... I am currently trying to model airplanes in GKGameMaker. I am using a 2D plane model that I found here: I am using the plane for purposes of gameplay and visual appeal. The model I am using is not representative of the actual plane. The scale is even off a bit. The engine on the plane that I downloaded is the actual

After the events that happened in Forta, Aresdale Castle was infested by the dark beings that left several people captive in its dungeons, other people had already left and according to the news they had been completely wiped out. You are a bounty hunter who is called to save these people and get them out of there, but you have to be careful because there are many traps placed in the dungeons and you don't know how many monsters you will have to face along your journey. You have different weapons at your disposal, like melee or weapons ranged. Some weapons can be found in chests and hidden in the dungeon, like melee weapons or energy shields. The side quests are available in each area and they can help you gain better weapons and equipment. For example, you can uncover the deed of a nobleman who used to guard the castle and a few rumors about an organization of mercenaries who used to work there. There is an empty cell where you can sleep to gain some energy and buy some of your equipment. Enjoy the journey!
